Mitchell Telecom Launches High-Definition Service

Mitchell Telecom recently added High-Definition Television (HDTV) to the company's service portfolio. HD channels have content that is produced at a much higher resolution compared to regular standard definition programming. Customers hoping to receive HD service need HDTV Set as well as a cable box capable of providing the signal from Mitchell Telecom.

Mitchell Telecom completed construction of a state-of-the-art communications network to provide high-speed Internet, digital cable television and telephone services throughout the city of Mitchell in 2006. Mitchell Telecom is a wholly owned subsidiary of Santel Communications, a cooperative that has been providing communication services to its member owners in southeast South Dakota for over 50 years.
